Revamping a Debt Collection Agency’s Google Ads Campaign: A Case Study

Overview:

A debt collection agency was struggling with their Google Ads campaign. Despite having an existing campaign, the company was not getting enough conversions. The company reached out to me to help improve their Google Ads campaign and boost their conversions.

My Role:

As a Google Ads specialist, my role was to analyze the company's Google Ads campaign and identify the major mistakes they were making. I needed to create an effective strategy to revamp their campaign and increase their conversion rates.

Project Task/Challenge:

The main challenge of this project was to increase the conversions of the company's Google Ads campaign. After analyzing their ad account, I found that their landing page was not optimized, and many people were dropping off at their form submission page. Additionally, their ad copies were not effectively targeting potential customers' pain points.

Project Solution:

To increase the conversion rate of their Google Ads campaign, I implemented three major solutions:

1. Revamped the Get a Quote Page: I created a new, highly optimized Get a Quote Page and directed users to this page instead of the normal Contact Us Page. The new page had a great header and sub-header, feature/value-based bullet points, and a super-specific call-to-action button. I also included a trust badge to reassure customers about their privacy.

This is what I changed

2. Restructured Ad Account and Optimized Ad Copies: I analyzed the market to identify potential customers' pain points and used this data to create new ad copies that would attract more visitors to the website from Google Ads.
3. Set Location and Device Bid Adjustment to Target the Right Visitors: I found out that some specific locations are mobile devices are driving most of the conversions. I increased the bids on high performing locations and mobile devices, and I immediately started to see the increase in the performance.

Results:

After implementing the above solutions, the company saw a significant increase in their conversion rates. Here are the results I helped them achieve:

- Conversions increased by 39.13%
- Conversion Rate increased by 21%
- Cost/Conversion decreased by 17.91%
